Monetta Young Investor Fund Provides Investors With College Tuition Credits

WHEATON, IL - January 13, 2009 - The Monetta Young Investor Fund (www.younginvestorfund.com), in conjunction with SAGE Scholars Inc., provides tuition credits at over 220 participating colleges nationwide. The tuition credits are earned annually and are equal to 5% of shareholder account balances. The credits accumulate like frequent flyer miles, which never expire and can be used by any sibling in the family, as well as grandchildren, nieces, nephews and cousins. Tuition credits are not taxed, do not affect financial aid calculations and do not affect a shareholder's account. The credits are remitted solely as a deduction from a college's full tuition bill.

The Monetta Young Investor Fund (NASDAQ: MYIFX) is a comprehensive college investment program that includes an innovative kids-themed mutual fund, a financial literacy component that is designed to get kids involved in the investment process and an opportunity to earn college tuition credits that can be used at over 220 colleges nationwide.

"Tuition Rewards can have a significant impact in helping families reduce future college costs by possibly reducing up to a years college tuition" reports Bob Bacarella, Monetta's President. "To get started, parents receive 500 tuition credits by visiting our website and clicking on the Tuition Rewards button ... no investment is required."

Monetta Financial Services, Inc. (MFSI) is the investment advisor to the Monetta Funds. The advisor has contracted with Sage Scholars, Inc. to offer Tuition Rewards (credits) to all Monetta Fund Shareholders that enroll in the Tuition Rewards program through Monetta's website.

Tuition Rewards are remitted solely as a reduction from the college's full tuition bill and are not awarded in cash. Tuition Rewards are not taxable and do not affect Federal financial aid eligibility. Tuition Rewards are administered by SAGE Scholars, a college savings plan founded by the former dean of admissions & financial aid at the Wharton Graduate School, University of Pennsylvania. Participating college's or universities may individually impose rules and regulations governing the use of these rewards. For further information about SAGE and a complete list of participating colleges, please visit www.tuitionrewards.com. By enrolling in the SAGE Scholars Program, you become a "sponsor". A sponsor must identify designated students ("beneficiaries") at least two years before beginning college; a sponsor can support multiple students from the same family. Children, grandchildren, stepchildren, nieces and nephews are eligible. A designated student may receive Tuition Rewards from multiple sponsors. Tuition Rewards are applied evenly over a four-year undergraduate education and accumulate semi-annually, equal to 2.5% of the sponsor's account value on June 30 and December 31 of each year. Each student can apply "up to" a maximum of 25% per year of the participating college's current annual tuition cost. Participating colleges reserve the right to send admissions information to designated students once they reach high school age. Colleges reserve the right to blend Tuition Rewards into a total financial aid package offered to admitted students, and participation in the Tuition Rewards Program is not a guarantee of admission.

All cost for the College Savings Program including participation in the Tuition Rewards Program are paid by MFSI.

While the Funds' are no-load, management and distribution fees and other expenses may apply.
